Death of General Washington. A POEM.

In imitation of the manner of Ossian. By Rev. JOHN B. LISK, A. M. Minister of the First Presbyterian Congregation of Philadelphia.

Mr. Chalmers's Oration will be published on Monday morning, March 15.

PROPOSALS

By WILLIAM COBBETT,

For importing the following periodical publications:

1. The British Critick;
2. The Anti-Jacobin Review and Magazine;
3. The Gentleman's Magazine;
4. Le Mercure Britanique, or The British Mercury.

THE British Critick is a regular Review of all the works published in Great Britain; it is conducted with great impartiality and ability, and of the numerous publications of the kind which do now appear, and which have appeared in Great Britain; it is universally allowed to be the best.

[Price 50 Cents.]

The Anti-Jacobin Review and Magazine is as its title seems to indicate, rather more confined, as to the nature of its subjects, but it certainly is not less calculated for extensive utility. This work is divided into four departments: 1. Original Criticism—2. A Review of the other Reviews—3. Occasional Essays, in prose and verse—and 4th, A Monthly Summary of History and Politics. Every six months it has a supplement, containing a review of foreign works, not forgetting those of America. The Anti-Jacobin dwells less on subjects which are merely literary and scientific, than on those which have a more immediate influence on society. With a bold and masterly hand, it corrects the blunderings of error, traces the intricate windings of misrepresentation, and strips off the mask of hypocrisy. The avowed champion of the church and the state, it spurs the enemies of neither, whether open or secret; and, forming the pillar of the defensive, upon which the friends of truth have long relied, it carries on a continual and vigorous offensive warfare against anarchy, immorality, and irreligion, and thus sustains by its uniform conduct, its right to the title it has assumed.

[Price 50 Cents.]

The Gentleman's Magazine, a work stamped with the approbation of three score years, consists chiefly of communications from antiquaries and cultivators, and of original essays, in verse and prose, written by the most learned and ingenious men in the kingdom, and embracing by turns, almost every subject interesting to man. The miscellaneous part of the work is followed by a selection of authentic foreign and domestic intelligence, including official reports, state papers, and an abstract of the proceedings in parliament; next comes a very copious history, being not merely a list of deaths, but a valuable series of biography; to which is added, a Meteorological Diary and Table, a Bill of Mortality for London and its environs, a table of the average prices of corn, and of the stocks; every day in the month; so that this work must ever be an entertaining and useful companion, not only to those who are of the learned professions, commonly so called, but to the merchant, the farmer, and, in short, to every man, whatever may be the subject of his study, or the object of his pursuit.

[Price 40 Cents.]

Le Mercure Britanique, or, British Mercury; by Monsieur Mallet Du Pan—This work, of which one number is published every fortnight, in French and in English, commenced in August 1798, and is continued with increasing spirit and celebrity. It is both historical and critical; it contains a summary, and is the repository, of all the important events, established facts and public instruments, which relate to the present era; it investigates points of fact, of politics, and national rights; it extends its view over all the nations of Europe, examines the conduct and discloses the motives of their respective courts; it is in short a brief and comprehensive history of the times, equally remarkable for the elegance of its style, the profundity of its remarks, and the soundness of its principles.

[Price 50 Cents.]

These four works comprise every thing useful in the periodical way. Gentlemen may subscribe for all, or for either, of them. The first order is intended to be sent off on the 1st of May next; the successive numbers will be received at New York in two months upon an average after, their publication in London; so that those who are subscribers for an or before the 1st of May, will be received in September; after which they will with very little irregularity, come to hand once a month; the importer having made such arrangements as cannot fail of securing punctuality on the part of his correspondents.

Subscriptions will be received from any part of America, by J. W. FARMO, Philadelphia. No advance is required. The prices are but four cents a number higher than in London. April 3.

Hereby gives public Notice, That in obedience to recent instructions received from his government, it is the duty of all Masters of Swedish and Danish vessels, before their sailing from any port in the said States, to call upon him or the Vice Consul, in order to be granted such Certificates for their Cargoes, which the exigency of the state of the Neutral Commerce and the federal Decrees of the Belligerent Powers, render indispensably necessary, and that any Master of vessels belonging to the respective nations, or navigating under the protection of their flags, in omitting to take such certificates, will personally stand responsible for the consequences.

ADVERTISEMENT.

THE feat of Government being about to be transferred to the City of Washington, and certain arrangements on the part of the Subscriber, consequent thereupon, having been concluded, he offers for sale, his Printing Establishment in Philadelphia, with all the stock of materials, &c. including the right and title to the GAZETTE OF THE UNITED STATES.

Desirous not less that the task of conducting this paper should be devolved upon one who will advocate the great interests which it has hitherto been endeavored therein to maintain, than that it should be continued in all that importance and dignity, as a vehicle of political information, which it has hitherto preserved, I have determined to receive proposals for the purchase of the Establishment until the middle of next month.

To an eligible character—the terms will be made sufficiently liberal—provided good security can be given: though while a due regard to my personal interest forbids me to make any exclusive proposition, I need not say how much I should prefer to devolve the paper upon any other character than a Jacobin or a True-American.

Any person already possessed of a Printing Office, may buy the establishment without the Printing materials.

All propositions on this subject must be from principals and all letters post paid.

It is not without a degree of regret, that I refuse to cease my labors in this wretched direction. But other objects of greater interest demand that I abandon this; and in fact forbid me to refrain myself any longer from executing an intention, which I signified now more than a year since, and which I then postponed only from considerations of a public nature.

Any person resolving to close with these propositions, will undoubtedly satisfy himself fully in regard to every material point connected with the situation. For this purpose, I will communicate freely and impartially, every information in my possession, and my books shall be free to the inspection of the purchaser. It will appear that the establishment is a flourishing and increasing one.

DE. PHOEBOSTON.

You are meek and humble mouth'd; You sign your place and calling, in full seeming, With meekness and humility, but your heart is cramm'd with arrogance, spleen, and pride. You are a holy fox, Or wolf, or both, for you are equally ravenous As you are subtle, and as prone to mischief. I shall tell you You tender more your philosophic pride Than your high profession spiritual—

You are a man Of an unbounded stomach, ever ranking Yourself with princes: you are ever double Both in your words and meaning, you are never

But where you mean to ruin; pitiful. Of your own flock you are despis'd, And give the clergy ill example, for they know thee

A most arch heretic, a pestilence That does infect the land. You play the Spaniel And think with wagging of your tongue to win us;

But what's for thou tak'st us for, I'm sure Thou hast a cruel nature, and a bloody.

DEAU JONQUIL. A milkop—one that never in his life Felt so much cold as sweet shoes in snow.

In the year 1774, when the infamous David Williams of Deistical memory resided at Chelsea, in the vicinity of London, Dr. Franklin, with whom he was intimate, took refuge in his house from the storm he apprehended would follow Mr. Wedderburne's attack on him at the council board. Here the philosopher of Pennsylvania concurred with his pious friend the plan of a deistical and philosophical lecture. This scheme was carried into practice, and Williams opened a chapel in Margaret Street, Cavendish square. But the complexion of his discourses was relished neither by churchmen nor dissenters. The above paragraph is extracted from a democratical publication; and it is curious and may suggest matter for much reflection that even in such a book we find a candid statement of the daring and wicked schemes of that old man, whom it has been to fashionable in America to praise. The record is honorable to the new philosophy. Franklin inflames an arch villain to open a school of vice and irreligion. Its doctrines were so detestable, so flagrantly bad, that they could not be tolerated by the listeners of any sect.

NOTICE.

THE Members of the Society of the Sons of St. George, established at Philadelphia, for the Advice and Assistance of Englishmen in Distress, are requested to attend an anniversary meeting of the said Society, at the City Tavern, on Wednesday the 23d day of April, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, GEO. DAVIS, Sec'y.

Several members are to be ballotted for—Dinner to be on table at 4 o'clock. April 16. d23d

"No man also having drunk old wine, straightway desired new: For he said, the old is better."

HE might have said so at Jerusalem, in the year of our Lord, four or five: But in the enlightened eighteenth century, the depraved palate of the moderns often prefers new wine to old. This absurd preference was deemed an impossible thing, in days of yore, by an excellent judge, whose universally negative proposition, in the text affords an indubitable proof, that his age was not the age of innovation.

How unfortunate for the benighted Jews, that Thomas Paine was then unborn, and did not print Common Sense, at the foot of the Mount of Olives. How many instructed readers would have saved to pieces their old wine casks, and, with an air of independence, swallowed huge draughts from the new.

But though the men of Palestine were denied the privilege of examining wine, or any thing else, by the lamp of Paine, we enjoy its full blaze, and may discern the imperfections of many old things, such as old principles, old government, or an old Bible. Nothing can shake the present thirst for novelty. This is the age of experiment; we defer the old and safe way, and turn aside eagerly into untried paths.

I imported, in the last vessels from Europe, many new books, and a brilliant shew they made, ranged on my study shelf, by the side of my dog's eared Shakespeare and worm eaten St. Bernard. I then examined critically, the style and the sentiment of modern literature. I quickly found that the fashionable fine writing of the day, was like new wine, crude and mawkish. No man who has read Atterbury and South, Addison and Goldsmith, will prefer this verbose trash, said I, scornfully glancing at a London magazine, to the sterling sense and inimitable expression of my old authors.

A few evenings ago, I heard a pert collegian declaiming against the study of Grecian and Roman pages. I then began to indulge one of my reveries. Here is a babe, whose shallow brain cannot bear the falterian of Horace, and who chokes with the grape stone of Anacreon. I shall see him in a moment running after some of the small wines of the country, to a French press. I was right; he began to deafen me with the praises of Mirabeau's speeches, Gregoire's report, and the Abbe Condorcet, and wished that Virgil had been a poet of Languedoc. May American students, I ejaculated, when they neglect the classics, and prefer a French Spanglo to ancient Gold, be doomed to read nothing but a butcher's bill of Le-gendre, or Sauterre's inventory of his brew house.

This sermon is not dedicated to Frenchmen. Nothing that any Preacher can say will "help their unbelief." They are so drunken with new wine, that they cannot discern palaces, abbey lands, ancient landmarks, nor days of the week. They imagine to many vain things, that should thrust present to them her old glass, they would turn aside. It is to you, sober Americans, I address my exhortation. You, whether called old Tories, old federalists, or old fools, will never hazard rash innovations, nor march in the patriotic forlorn hope of revolution. You dislike not an excellent form of religion or government because it is three hundred years of age. Satisfied with things as they are, you do not run tumultuously through your streets, bellowing reform: Nor do you, like the rash Rehoboam, fight the council of the ancient, to listen to the hair brained projects of juvenile indiscretion.

Diffuse, discomfite, despite the man, therefore, who propels religious or political expedients. Be jealous of him, who advises you to be jealous of your rulers. Burn the edition and impiety of Paine, and turn over the leaves of the antiquated Bible. No man of taste or piety having read it, straightway desisteth infidelity, for he faith, the Gospel is better.

THE LAY PREACHER.

ANECDOTE OF SUWARROW. In the campaign of the allied Russian and Austrian forces against the Turks in Moldavia, 1789, the allies were separated into three divisions prince Potemkin commanded the right, the prince of Saxe-Cobourg the left, and Suwarrow the centre. The Turkish forces, very superior in numbers, were commanded by the grand vizier, a man of considerable military skill. He made a feint to march against the division under Potemkin, and then marched about and wheeled against Saxe-Cobourg. Suwarrow, aware of the danger in which the prince must be placed, marched immediately with 8000 troops to his assistance.—Such was the rapidity of his march, that of the 8000 only 3500 reached the army of prince Cobourg, the rest being compelled to stop through excessive fatigue. Suwarrow arrived at midnight in the prince's camp, which the Turks were waiting for day break to attack. A council of war was called, in which the prevailing opinion was, for Suwarrow's troops to repose themselves.—Confused how fatal the smallest delay would be, Suwarrow exclaimed, with his characteristic energy—"Battle is the repose of my troops!"—We must attack the enemy in an hour, or all is lost.—The attack was accordingly made, and the Turks, ten times superior in numbers, were routed, and the three divisions of the allies were enabled to form a junction.

THE First Troop of Philadelphia Cavalry will meet on Friday next the 25th inst. at four o'clock in the afternoon at the Manege in Chestnut street, properly equipped.

JOHN DUNLAP, Captain.

NOTICE. Mr. Harper, moved that the committee of the whole be discharged from the further consideration of that bill, which if carried, he would move to refer to a select committee.

After a short debate, the motion was carried, ayes 54, and the bill was referred to a select committee composed of seven members.

NOTICE. Mr. Harper, moved that the committee of the whole be discharged from the further consideration of that bill, which if carried, he would move to refer to a select committee.

After a short debate, the motion was carried, ayes 54, and the bill was referred to a select committee composed of seven members.

A Letter from Captain Perry, of the U. States frigate General Greene, to Doctor Stevens, dated off Jactmel, the 17th March, mentions his having captured a French privateer, commanded by John Pelott, who took the New Jersey, Indianap, of Philadelphia.

The account of Cooper's trial, extracted into this paper from the American Daily Advertiser, is slated to us to be erroneous in many particulars. The Court did not prohibit the reading of any papers on the part of the defendant. He was not in one instance interrupted in the course of his argument; but was, on the contrary allowed every possible indulgence and accommodation.

Yesterday came on the trial of Joseph Berouffe, or Burfa, Peter Peterson, or La Croix, and Joseph Baker, or Bonlanger, indicted for piracy and murder; in having on the 12th day of September last, on board the schooner Eliza, Captain Whelan, of Philadelphia, rose on the officers of said schooner, and, after barbarously murdering Charles Rey, supercargo, Thomas's refractory mate, and Jacob Schuller, steerman, took possession of the vessel.

Captain Whelan was the only witness, and his narrative alone was sufficient to carry conviction with it. The facts were too strong to admit a doubt of the commitment of the horrid crime with which the prisoners stood charged: and the jury, with very little hesitation, gave in their verdict guilty.

Messrs. Dallas, Duponceau and Moylan were counsel for the prisoners; but offered no defence. Mr. Dallas, however, gave notice that he would move for an arrest of judgment.

CONGRESS.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Monday, April 21.

The bill to continue in force the act laying an additional duty on salt, was read a third time, and passed—ayes 37, noes 28.

Mr. Stone, presented a petition of the inhabitants of the district of Edenton, in North Carolina, praying an alteration in a certain post road—which was postponed till next session of Congress—ayes 33, noes 19.

Mr. Cooper presented a petition of Hugh White and others,—which was referred to the Secretary of the Treasury.

Mr. D. Folger, from the Committee of Claims, reported a resolution in favor of Benjamin Wells and others, who suffered by the loss of property during the western insurrection, in 1794—which was committed for to-morrow.

Mr. Parker brought in a bill to authorize the purchase of timber for naval purposes—which was committed for to-morrow.

Mr. F. also brought in a bill for the appointment of Admirals for the Navy.

This bill contemplates the appointment of one Vice-Admiral and four Rear-Admirals.—Upon the question shall the bill have a second reading, it was carried—ayes 37, noes 31—and was then committed to a committee of the whole House—ayes 37, noes 32.

Mr. Gallatin then moved that it be made the order of the day for the first Monday in December next.

A long debate ensued upon this motion—after which the yeas and nays were taken.

Yeas 44—Nays 45.

The bill was then made the order of the day for to-morrow.

In the course of the debate on the above question, Mr. Speaker having declared that it was not in order to dispute the merits of the bill, Mr. Harper, who was desirous of doing so, appealed from the decision of the Chair and upon the question will the House concur in the decision of their Speaker, it passed in the affirmative—ayes 65.

A message was received from the Senate, by Mr. Otis their Secretary, informing the House that they have passed the following bills sent from this House—viz.

An act to provide for rebuilding the Light House at New London, for the support of a Light House at Clark's Point, and for other purposes—and

An act to repeal the act laying a duty on mills and implements employed in the manufacture of Snuff.

Also, that the Senate have passed a bill in addition to the act to prohibit the carrying on the Slave trade from the United States to any foreign place or country—to which they request the concurrence of the House.

The bill was read a first and second time and referred to the select committee of the whole, to whom a bill of a similar nature reported in this House, was referred.

Mr. Rutledge, from the committee to whom was referred the amendments of the Senate, to the bill supplemental to the act for an amicable settlement of limits with the state of Georgia, and to authorize the establishment of a Government in the Mississippi territory, made report—that it would be expedient to agree to all the amendments except the first.

The report was committed to a committee of the whole House, and made the order of the day for to-morrow.

Mr. S. Smith called for The order of the day on the bill preferring the mode of deciding disputed elections of President and Vice-President of the United States.

Mr. Harper, moved that the committee of the whole be discharged from the further consideration of that bill, which if carried, he would move to refer to a select committee.

The bill to establish the district of Kensington, and to annex Lyme to New London; to alter the districts of Bermuda Hundred and City Point, and therein to amend the act laying duties on imports and tonnage, was taken up in committee of the whole, Mr. Rutledge in the chair—when Mr. Parker moved to strike out the third section which authorizes the establishment of a new district in Virginia, to be called the district of Petersburg.

This motion was negatived; the blanks in the bill were filled up, and it was ordered to be engrossed, and read a third time to-morrow.

Mr. Harper said he was so strongly impressed with the ill consequences which must necessarily flow from the decision made this morning, that he wished to try if that principle could not be altered by a new rule, and therefore laid the following motion on the table, viz:

Resolved, That the following rule be added to, and made part of the standing rules and orders of the house: On a motion to postpone any bill, motion, or resolution, the merits of the said bill, motion, or resolution, may be discussed.

The house resolved itself into a committee of the whole, on the report of the committee of claims, on the petitions of Thomas Johnston and others, when the resolution reported by the committee, authorizing the accounting officers of the treasury to settle and liquidate the accounts of said Johnston and others, for their services as mounted volunteers against the Indians in 1794, was agreed to, and a bill ordered to be brought in pursuant thereto.

The house again resolved itself into committee of the whole on the bill to incorporate a company by the name and style of the Mine and Metal company; Mr. Morris in the chair; and Mr. Nicholas's motion to strike out the 5th section, which authorizes the President to subscribe 50,000 dollars being under consideration.

A very long debate took place and it was finally carried; yeas 46; nays 31.

Mr. Wain then moved an additional section, in place of the one struck out, authorizing the President of the United States, at his discretion, whenever the sums actually subscribed and paid amount to 150,000 dollars, to direct the secretary of the treasury to subscribe on behalf of the U. States, under certain restrictions.

This motion was carried, the committee rose, and the bill was ordered to be read a third time to-morrow; yeas 43; nays 33.

A message from the Senate, informed the house, that they had passed the bill respecting the mint, and the bill to continue in force the act for the punishment of certain crimes against the United States, without amendment. The house then passed the bill for dividing the N. W. territory into two distinct and separate governments, with amendments, to which they request the concurrence of the house.

Foreign Intelligence.

Latest from Europe.

BOSTON, April 16.

Since our last, there has been an arrival from England, which has brought down the London dates to the thirteenth of February.

LONDON, February 13.

The memorable debate which took place on Monday in the House of Commons, has fully gratified the public expectation, and realized the hopes of all persons attached to the cause of the country, of social order, of justice, and of truth. The essential spirit of the French Revolution was never more thoroughly analyzed, the views of those who have successively conducted it, more clearly exposed, nor their conduct with respect to other governments more faithfully sketched out, nor more energetically censured, than on this occasion. The question of aggression, so often decided, received new light by the publication of several circumstances hitherto little known, and the odium of aggression was indelibly fixed on the French government. The principal and immediate point was admirably well stated, and considered in the double light of the influence which the change of government in France, and that of the persons who exercise it, might have upon it. It has been shown that the former presented no more security for stability, than the Convention or the Directorial Government, and that the conduct of the Chief Consul himself was far from affording to Europe such motives for confidence, as could serve for the solid basis for negotiations. It would be the highest presumption in us to pretend to add a single observation or remark on a subject which has so lately passed the test of superior talents and of authority. We cannot, however, help remarking, that those who endeavored to prevent this important discussion from being terminated in the manner in which it was ended, adduced in support of their opinions nothing which could make an impression on a calm and impartial reason.
To account for this, we need not look to inferiority of talents, or insufficiency of exertion, since it is manifest from the nature of the cause which they defended; a cause which ten years experience has left destitute of argument, and which is irreversibly lost before the Tribunal of enlightened Europe.

No military operations of moment had taken place. The French army under Moreau, occupied the left, and were making preparations to pass over the Rhine. The Archduke Charles had his head-quarters at Donauwörth, in Wabia; and had detached 12,000 men to reinforce General Melas and Klauau, where General Massena had gained some advantages in the vicinity of Coni. In both armies, which extend from Mentz to Zurich, every thing was in preparation for an immediate opening of a very sanguine campaign.

An event which arrests some of the public attention, is the assembling of a Prussian army of 100,000 under General Mollendorff.

The war in the interior of France assumes various aspects. The Chouans are no longer beaten in one quarter, than they rise in another. The chief consul has taken every measure to suppress or extirpate them. He has ordered the capture of many of their chiefs from the list of emigrants; has directed that the ancient priests be permitted to officiate in the churches, as formerly; and that a general amnesty should be granted to those who surrender their arms. It was said that many of the chiefs had embraced the consular terms; and that peace would in all probability speedily visit those provinces which have so long been stained by kindred blood spilt in civil broil.

PARIS, January 26.

General Bernadotte is Counsellor of State, in the War Department.

Jan. 30. At a civic banquet at Angers, the 23d ult. the following was amongst the toasts: "To Buonaparte; the honor and glory of the French name. We owe to his courage and his virtues the maintenance of liberty. He shall be the idol of Republicans."
—But if a new Caesar—then to the Brutus who shall plunge a dagger into his bosom.
This is a strange way of honoring a great man. The Brutus may, however, remain quiet; they will never see any new Caesar.
Feb. 1. Villaret Soyelle is, it is said, recruited Vice Admiral, since being set at liberty.

TRIBUNATE, FEB. 2.

The President mentioned, that Felix Faulcon wished to make some observations on the death of Washington. (Several members opposed his speaking by calling the order of the day. In the midst of their murmurs, Faulcon ascended the tribune.

"I am come," said he, "to speak of a loss which will leave a deep, a lasting regret, wherever there are freemen, and which in deed is in some sort national, though it may appear foreign to France. Washington is no more!—the tomb has swallowed up the man who was the model of republican virtue!

After proceeding in a panegyric, already published, he moved, that the President should, on the 24th Frimaire, (Dec. 14th), the anniversary of the day of the general's death, deliver an oration in honor of the Hero, whose loss every one deplores.

Fresh opposition was heard; and repeated cries for the order of the day.

A member moved, that the motion be adjourned, the death of Washington not being officially known.

Legrand expressed deep regret at the death of such a man; but would it not, he asked, be dangerous, or at least inconvenient, to raise a monument of praise which has not been granted to others men dear to humanity; and to adopt the initiative towards a foreigner; for such is the proposal? He, therefore, was in favor of passing to the business of the day. The order of the day was agreed to.

FRANKFORT, Jan. 22.

We are still surrounded with troops; those of the elector of Mayence, are at Offenbach and at Oberried. The head quarters of Albini are expected at the first of these places, and a demi-myriametre here. The hussars of Szeckler occupy the fortresses of Konigstein. There are also some of these hussars and of those of Mentz, at Hoeft and the neighborhood. The communication between this city and Mentz is interrupted for the carriers and for travellers, but it continues open to the mail.

Gen. Lascy commander of the Russian Lithuania, has received orders from Peter-burgh to march for Germany with the army under his command, which is there in

Prevention better than Cure.

For the prevention and cure of Bilious and Malignant Fevers, is recommended.

DR. HAHN'S

Anti-bilious Pills.

WHICH have been attended with a degree of success highly gratifying to the inventor's feelings, in several parts of the West-Indies, and the southern parts of the United States; particularly in Baltimore, Petersburg, Richmond, Norfolk, Edenton, Wilmington, Charle-ton, Savannah, &c. The testimony of a number of persons in each of the above places can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy, has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favor of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy, founded on mere assertion, could do.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason, which can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these pills, taken once every two weeks during the prevalence of our annual bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventative; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases, their use will very generally succeed in restoring health and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild and may be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions; to restore and amend the appetite; to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequence. A dose never fails to remove a cold taken on its first appearance. They are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness, flatulency of the stomach and severe head aches, and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing most disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Genuine Eye-water.

A certain and safe remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness, or of accident, speedily removing inflammation, de-flexions of rheum, dullness, itching, and films in the eyes, never failing to cure those maladies which frequently succeed the small pox, measles and fevers, and wonderfully strengthening a weak sight.
Hundreds have experienced its excellent virtues when nearly deprived of sight.

Tooth-ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

The Anodyne Elixir.

For the cure of every kind of head-ache, and for pains in the face and neck.

Infallible Ague and Fever Drops.

This medicine has never failed, in many thousand cases not one in a hundred has had occasion to take more than one bottle, and numbers not half a bottle. The money will be returned if the cure is not performed.

papers, to return the number of subscribers by
